

Experience a flavour of Marrakech with La Sultana

Morocco harvests and grows some of the tastiest ingredients in the world

La Sultana, the true gems to stay in when visiting Morocco, source almost all of their ingredients locally, as it's now one of the most innovative countries in the world for food production. With a perfect year-round climate for growing food, Morocco produces the freshest and juiciest fruit and vegetables, as well as the freshest meat and fish from the coast.

To celebrate this new era of culinary success, La Sultana Marrakech have created "A Flavour of Marrakech" aimed at travelling foodies who wish to experience the finest of what Morocco has to offer, including some of the best meals available in the city.

The package includes Moroccan breakfast each morning, including fresh butter pancakes, juicy plums and oranges; a morning cooking class on the roof terrace of La Sultana which is tailored to your culinary wishes; a three-hour dining tour of Marrakech and visit to the Souk; a street-food style lunch at La Table du Souk on the roof of La Sultana, with its dramatic views of the Atlas Mountains and the Stork colony; and a Moroccan Terroir set dinner at the renowned and romantic La Table de La Sultana, with soft drinks included.

La Sultana sources its food from across Morocco, which has invested substantial amounts into developing its food sector. The sources include:

- Lobster, spider crab, whitefish – from Oualidia
- Fresh vegetables - from La Sultana vegetable gardens in Oualidia and Marrakech
- Sea salt - from Zerradoune
- Cumin - from Afnif
- Argan oil - the Souss region
- Saffron - from Taliouine
- Milk cheese - from Essaouira
- Free-range chicken, pigeon, honey - from Agro

La Sultana is located centrally in Marrakech, in the heart of the Kasbah area, enabling guests to experience authentic Marrakech on foot or from the incredible roof terrace overlooking the city. Guests can also relax in the La Sultana Spa or in the unique swimming pool in the heart of the hotel.

The Flavour of Marrakech offer is valid all year round, except during peak high season, Christmas and New Year and is available for 5400 MAD for two people, in addition to your accommodation.
