

La Table du Souk

Experience a taste of the ocean in the city with La Sultana Marrakech's Sunday Seafood Lunch

Also known as the oyster capital of Morocco, Oualidia is a quiet fishermen's village on the Atlantic coast of Morocco.

It is here where La Sultana Marrakech's sister property and ocean retreat, La Sultana Oualidia is situated. Bringing a taste of the ocean to the city, La Sultana Marrakech is now serving the very best of Oualidia's seafood at its rooftop restaurant La Table du Souk, every Sunday for lunch.

Inclusive of an indulgent seafood platter, the new Sunday lunch menu is perfect for seafood lovers and includes:

Seared Avocado & Fresh Sea Spider Crab from Oualidia

Seafood platter

Lobster, crayfish, spider crab, creamy mussels stew, king prawns, sea urchins and oysters

Your choice of dessert from the menu

La Sultana Marrakech's La Table du Souk features elegant, traditional Moroccan design details including green tiling and zellige furniture, but it's the rooftop setting that makes the location for lunch so uniquely special. Located high above ground, La Table du Souk features unrivalled panoramic views of Marrakech's historical monuments located within the UNESCO listed Medina, including the Moulay el Yazid Mosque and the Koutoubia, as well as out to the snow-capped peaks of the Atlas Mountains.

La Sultana Hotels' 'Terroir Cuisine' philosophy ensures every dish served features the very best ingredients produced in Morocco, to create 100% botanical options as well as meat and fish options, sourced from local and ethical producers. La Sultana Hotels' cuisine is inspired by a network of small local producers and La Sultana Oualidia's own organic garden to reflect the season and harvest time.

La Table du Souk serves two Moroccan dining experiences, 'Street Food' & 'Food from the Market', both of which focus on freshness and simplicity, whilst on Sundays at lunch time the most delicious fresh seafood from Oualidia is now also served.
